Task

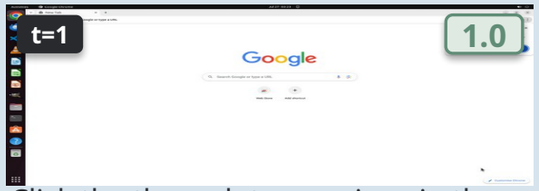

Can you enable the 'Do Not Track' feature in Chrome to enhance my online privacy?

Reference (partial)

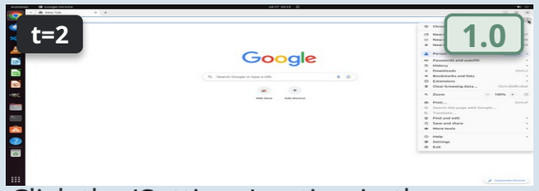

The Chrome browser interface must display the main 'Settings' page (URL: chrome://settings). This state is achieved after clicking the 'Settings' option in the main menu. The page should show the 'You and Google' section or the search bar at the top, indicating successful entry into the configuration interface.

G1 Navigate to Chrome Settings

1.0 Milestone

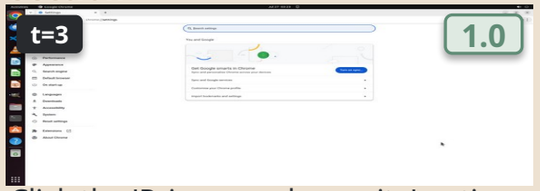

Click the three-dot menu icon in the top-right corner of the Chrome browser to open the main menu

Click the 'Settings' option in the expanded Chrome menu to navigate to the Settings page

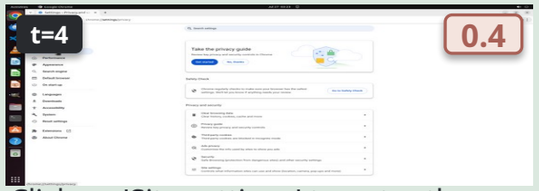

G2 Navigate to Privacy and Security Section

1.0 Milestone

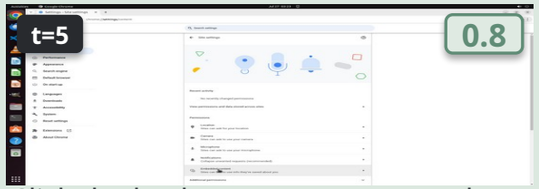

Click the 'Privacy and security' option in the left sidebar of Chrome Settings to navigate to that section

G3 Attempt to locate setting via Site Settings (First Attempt)

Click on 'Site settings' to enter the detailed settings interface to manage permissions including 'Do Not Track'

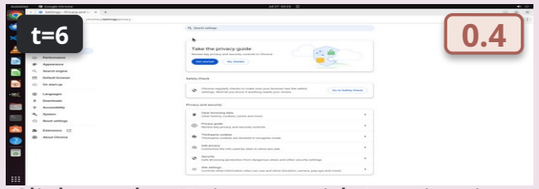

0.4 Exploratory

Click the back arrow to return to the 'Privacy and security' page because 'Do Not Track' was not found in 'Site settings'

G4 Attempt to locate setting via Privacy Guide

0.2 Redundant

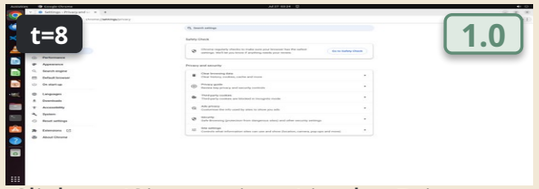

Click on the 'Privacy guide' option in the Privacy and security settings to explore if it contains the 'Do Not Track' setting

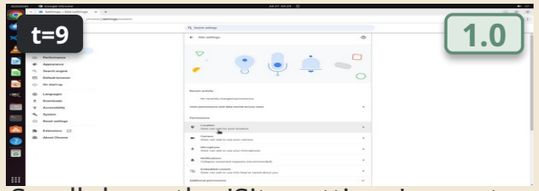

Click the back arrow to return to the 'Privacy and security' menu after realizing the 'Privacy guide' is the wrong path

G5 Re-attempt Site Settings and Scroll for Option

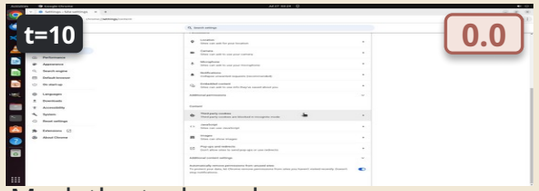

Click on 'Site settings' in the Privacy and security menu to navigate to the Site settings page

0.6 Useful-inefficient

Scroll down the 'Site settings' page to find the 'Do Not Track' option or 'Additional content settings'
